September 2019

Dear reader,

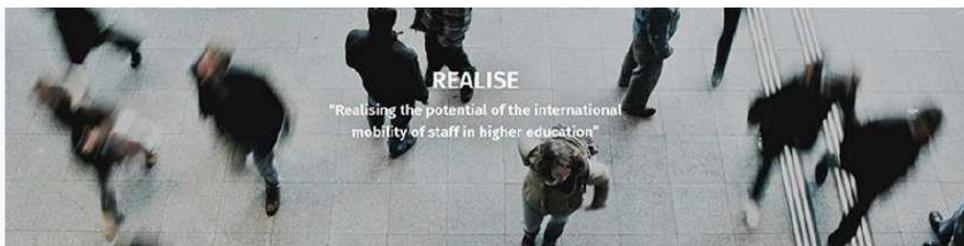

The REALISE Project has now reached its end, and we take this opportunity to thank you for your interest in all REALISE activities and your commitment to improve Erasmus+ Staff Mobility management, quality and recognition.

This 3-year adventure has been fulfilling and rewarding, and all REALISE partners hope that we have been able to help you and your institution in dealing with obstacles to organizing staff mobility and we hope that we will be able to meet again in the future, as REALISE's future is still to be determined, but the work provided during the past 3 years will of course be pursued in some way.

All REALISE outputs and information are still available on the REALISE website (<https://realise-erasmusplus.fr/>) and will be made available on Université Paul-Valéry Montpellier 3's website (<https://www.univ-montp3.fr/fr/projets-europ%C3%A9ens-et-internationaux>).

We are happy to have contributed to the improvement of staff mobility through the Erasmus+ programme and to have raised awareness on its added value, thus encouraging the internationalization of European Higher Education Institutions.

The REALISE Project team.

SURVEY TOOLS

3 survey tools have been developed to allow Higher Education Institutions to carry out a survey at internal level: questionnaires aimed at university staff, a mapping tool to gather quantitative and qualitative data on Erasmus+ staff mobility, and guidelines for interviews to identify the motors and obstacles to staff mobility in an institution.
